

LONDON'S BIG HOLIDAY.

The Pageant Celebrating the Induction into Office of the New Lord Mayor—A Brilliant Spectacle.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—In spite of a thick drizzle and a heavy fog, the ancient custom of presenting the elected chief magistrate of London to the representatives of the foreign countries and to the people was observed to-day with success. The usual throng of people lined the route and the decorations were more ambitious than usual. They consisted mainly of triumphal arches, Venetian masks, floral festoons and a liberal display of hunting.

In spite of the weather, a more stirring proof of the popularity of London's yearly pageant, known as the lord mayor's procession, has not been given in a long time—due very largely to the conspicuously brilliant year of office of the retiring chief magistrate, the Rt. Honorable Sir George Fausell Phillips, bart, K. G., C. I. H. Even the radical critics, who annually protest against the existence of the corporation of London within the area dominated by the county council, had nothing but praise to-day for the altogether admirable official career of Lord Mayor Phillips, which has given the quietest for many years to come to any serious attempt at abolishing the corporation.

It was not surprising, therefore, that the procession passed through dense masses of cheering people while windows, balconies and roofs were very generally utilized and the larger open places such as Trafalgar square were crowded to their capacity.

The show, although attractive as a mere spectacle, looked even more tawdry than the fog, rain and mud to-day, although to many people these circumstances did not make it any the less attractive as a historical relic, a survival of the days when the corporation of the city of London played its part, and not least light on the contest for constitutional freedom and material well being.

In its origin the mayor's procession was intended as an assertion of the importance of trade and commerce long previously ground down by kings and nobles. The city companies came into existence, formed a powerful municipality and, making full hall their headquarters, took care, as a warning to all whom it might concern, to have the mayor installed with the utmost pomp. In the course of time the ceremony lost this particular significance. But there was no sign to-day that it had relaxed its hold on the affections of the community to judge from the many thousands who braved the fog and drizzle in order to see the "show."

The procession included a car representing "British sports" with a huntsman, bicyclist, etc., including an Indian representing Prince Banjitsingh, illustrating cricket.

Another car depicted the "Founders of Greater Britain," including Sir Walter Raleigh, Admiral Penn, Warren Hastings, Lord Clive and Cecil Rhodes. An old stage coach of the year 1831 was followed by a modern motor car, presenting a striking contrast of the modes of locomotion in the past and present times.

Then there were the usual contingents of soldiers, sailors, firemen, artillery and the city companies, the whole thickly interspersed with bands of music. When the procession reached the law courts the lord mayor in his full civic robes, preceded by the recorder, Sir Forest Fulton, and attended by the retiring lord mayor, the sheriffs, the mace bearer, sword bearer, chaplain, aldermen in their sable trimmed gowns, together with other civic functionaries, proceeded to the court room of the lord chief justice, where they were received by the judges attired in scarlet robes, full-bottomed wigs and cocked hats. There the usual solemn court exercises were performed, the lord mayor in exercise of an immemorial right remaining seated while the recorder read an eulogistic review of the new lord mayor's career. It was in the annual Sunday school style, referring to his blameless youth, successful commercial career, and well spent life, crowned by the attainment of the highest civic honors.

From this court, after the retiring lord mayor had been formally presented to the judges by Sir Forest Fulton, the procession went to the court of appeal and was received by the master of the rolls and appeal justices attired in their striking robes of black and gold. The ceremonies there were merely formal. The dignitaries then returned to their coaches and resumed the march to the city.

Col. John Hay, the United States ambassador, who was to have responded to the toast of "The Foreign Ambassadors" at the Guild hall banquet to-night, is confined to his house by a cold and, in consequence, the Japanese minister will take his place.

A Field for Cultivation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Consul General Hector de Castro, at Rome, in a report to the state department says that if business men of the United States would give the same attention to Italy which they do to other countries they could largely increase their trade. He says there were no bladders at the auction for furnishing American tobacco to the government monopoly, and the minister of finance sent a representative to New York for the purpose of obtaining leaf of excellent quality. The government has by this means economized to the extent of $221,950. The consul general also says that according to the latest news received at the office of the ministry of agriculture of Italy, the wheat harvest this year has been estimated at 56,835,790 bushels, or about sixty per cent. of last year's production.

To Revolutionize Illumination.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Consul Deuster, at Cremona, Germany, reports to the state department of a discovery made there which, it is said, will revolutionize the methods of illumination. It is an incandescent gas. A single jet of ordinary size can emit a light of more than one thousand candle power and fine print can be read at a distance of 100 feet. The inventor says the cost for a light of 1,500 candle power is only four and one-half cents per hour, while that for an ordinary electric light of 400 candle power is fourteen cents per hour.
